

Pages:

- Homepage: Title + links (bandcamp + instagram + contact)
 - I've been imagining a "cursor-avoiding" thing.. Maybe ascii disappears under the cursor? OPTIONAL.....
- Shows (easily updatable?)... could be title + body on a small "card" .. layout can be whatever you think is cool / doable. I liked your floaty thing on otherseas; could have that sort of feel?
- Sound Objects; perhaps a separate thing with minimal visual aesthetic, white bg, using CMU Modern typeface, contains audio archive of show. Doesn't need to have subpages at all. Only information that should be contained is:
Sound^{objects} = 88.9, Mondays 3:30 PM CT

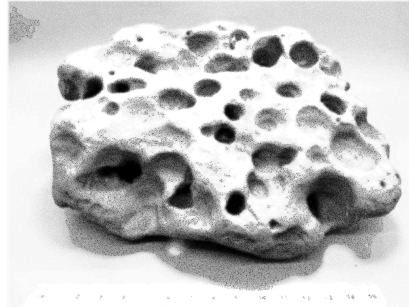

And the big block of text:

"Sound objects are: dubbed and re-dubbed three-times-over, lost in the junk drawer, eternally existent, copied infinitely, buried in the backyard, technologically innovative, technologically obsolete, a replication of the real thing, soulfully misinterpreting, elegantly disenfranchised, surgically damaged, clipping the master bus; comfortably dynamic, structurally unsound, eternally stable, ancient, yet-to-come"

Sound Objects reference images :

$(\text{sound}^{\text{objects}}) = 88.9$
mondays, 3:30pm

*Sound objects are: dubbed and re-dubbed three-times-over;
lost in the junk drawer, eternally existent, copied infinitely, buried in the backyard, technologically innovative,
technologically obsolete, a replication of the real thing,
soulfully misinterpreting, elegantly disenfranchised, surgically damaged, clipping the master bus; comfortably dynamic, structurally unsound, eternally stable, ancient, yet-to-come*

That's everything... Please only go as hard as seems reasonable + fun. Challenge my idiocy.

Thank you again
Isaac